

The State of Girls in New York

In 2013 the Girl Scout Research Institute (GSRI) released a ground breaking report, The State of the Girl: Unfinished Business, which staked out key issues and major trends affecting girls' healthy development. This year the GSRI went even further, drilling down their finding to each state in the Union. New York with 1,513,659 girls ages 5 to 17 living within its borders was ranked 21st out of 50 states on an overall index of well-being for girls. This index includes measures of a girl's physical health and safety, economic well-being, education, emotional health and extracurricular activities.

Girl Scouts of Nassau County (GSNC) found that it is addressing these important measures through the Girl Scout Leadership Experience (GSLE). The 18,609 girls who are members of Girl Scouting in Nassau County are improving their well-being while learning new skills, forming healthy relationships and having FUN.

Dear GSNC Members, Parents and Donors,

We had another wonderful year at Girl Scouts of Nassau County, and each of you had a part in our success. Thank you! Our girls learn, lead and laugh. Our volunteers give generously of their time and talent to ensure that our girls are prepared for today and tomorrow. Our donors safeguard the continuance of our work through their trust and generosity.

We've included a summary of the Girl Scout Research Institute's Report on The State of Girls in New York as part of the 2014 Girl Scouts of Nassau County Annual Report and while it is heartening that our state ranks in the upper half of the country in meeting the needs of girls, we still have a long way to go until every girl in the world is safe and healthy. With your help, we will continue that quest one Girl, one Troop, one Journey, one Badge, one box of Cookies and one great experience after another.

Stay with us as we continue our mission to Build girls of Courage, Confidence and Character who Make the World a Better Place ... Our girls need us!

Yours in Girl Scouting,

Physical Health and Safety

In 2014, 7,546 girls participated in Girl Scout programs and activities that improved their physical health and safety. These girls earned over 5,323 GSUSA badges, and 2,223 girls attended programs designed to get girls moving both indoors and outdoors. They learned new skills that challenged their bodies and minds such as Cross-Training and Geocaching. They learned to safely navigate the waters of our island at Camp Blue Bay and through the Water badge or how to make a splint out of an everyday object as part of the Senior First Aid badge. Girls avoided the hazards of the Internet by earning their Internet Safety badge. They fine-tuned their sportsmanship and participated as team members while earning their My Best Self or Coaching badges. They discovered where their food comes from and how it is grown through their work on the New Cuisines and Locavore Badges. Council events like Girls Go the Distance Walkathon and Activity Fair, City Scrambler, Bowling Bash, Girl Scout Garden, and Survival Challenge motivated girls to move and be healthier. Summer Camping at Blue Bay or Summer Fun Day Camp exposed the girls to the fun of being outdoors while making lifelong friends.

Economic Well-Being

The Girl Scout Cookie Program and our companion program, Mags&Munchies and Memories have helped 16,717 girls develop and improve their economic well-being. These programs foster five skills of economic success: goal-setting, decision-making, money management, people skills and business ethics. These programs, along with the 4,484 GSUSA badges earned, such as Money Counts, Cookie CEO and Financing My Future combined with Council events like Women of Wall Street, Entrepreneurial Envoys and Women in Science and Medicine, impacted the economic well-being of girls in Nassau County while giving them a chance to earn and learn in a safe environment.

These future business owners and industry titans will truly make the world a better place for us all.

Education

Education is more than academics. Learning occurs in many ways, including using your hands, trying something new, finding your passion or discovering your abilities. GSUSA Badges and Journey Awards allowed 10,604 girls to try their hands at being a Detective, Computer Scientist, Woodworker and Special Agent. They became Public Policy experts, they took a look Inside Government and learned about Finding the Common Ground. Exploring Career options at North Shore-LIJ Hospital, learning to program a robot as a member of a team in the FIRST LEGO League or Imagine Your Possibilities at the AT&T sponsored STEM Conference. They learned to honor and respect their flag and show their patriotism through the GSNC Ceremonial Unit; they learned to be media savvy through the GSNC Media Girls and Day in the Life of a News12 Reporter and Cameraman programs.

They also learned how to make a difference in this world by developing Take Action projects that address a need in their community both close to home, beyond Long Island and across the globe. To earn the highest awards in Girl Scouting, the Bronze Award for Girl Scout Juniors, the Silver Award for Girl Scout Cadettes and the Gold Award for Girl Scout Seniors and Ambassadors, each girl identified a need and then developed a solution to address this issue and shared their efforts with others. The results are truly impressive with 2,144 girls achieving these awards in 2014. A special salute must be given to the 70 girls who earned their Gold Award, the highest award in Girl Scouts.

Experiential learning has been the hallmark of the Girl Scout Leadership Experience for more than 102 years and here at GSNC it continues to effect the lives of girls and assures their well-being.

Emotional Health

The Emotional Health of a girl is often measured with negative words in The State of Girls in New York research. Words like obesity, bullying and depression are linked to a girl's well-being, but here at GSNC we look for ways to provide tools to help girls cope and overcome these negatives in their lives. The all-girl environment of GSNC helps girls feel safe. GSUSA Badges such as Eating for Beauty, Making Choices, Fair Play, Social Butterfly, Simple Meals, Science of Happiness and Council programs like BFF: Be a Friend First and Love Your Selfie were designed to help girls develop confidence in themselves. Emotional Health also comes from the ability to reduce the stress of daily life. Learning a new hobby or sport at Camp Blue Bay, finding a way to change their environment through organic gardening in the GS Garden, expressing their passion for animal rights in a Gold Award project and allowing creativity to flourish as they wrote a new one-act play for Theatri-Gals are all ways to foster emotional health.

Extracurricular Activities:

Girls need extracurricular activities for their well-being and GSNC is ready to fill that need. In 2014, 18,609 girls in Nassau County became members of Girl Scouts. Throughout the year, girls in Troops, Council-sponsored groups and individually registered Girl Scouts earned 24,071 GSUSA Badges. Girls attended programs, events and activities that allowed them to Discover, Connect and Take Action while having fun and making new friendships.

GSNC is Nurturing the Well-Being of Every Girl

A girl's well-being needs to be nurtured and some girls need a helping hand to participate in Girl Scouts. To ensure that all girls can be a Girl Scout, GSNC provided over $45,032 in financial assistance in 2014 to cover the cost of uniforms, membership fees, Troop dues, books, program opportunities and camperships for girls. Girls are never turned away from Girl Scouts of Nassau County because of an inability to pay.

GSNC strives to reach girls from every community in Long Island. Our membership reflects the diversity of Nassau County. In 2014, 12.4% of Girl Scouts in Nassau County identify as Hispanic, 8.7% identify as Black/African American and 3.6% identify as Asian Americans. We have work to do in these minority populations, and we continue strong volunteer and staff focus on these populations through our Hispanic/Latino Task Force, Asian Task Force and UMOJA Alliance.

As the GSRI report details, every girl is at risk in some way, and our members, parents, donors and the community can be confident that Girl Scouts of Nassau County will continue to work hard to improve the well-being of girls in the state of New York! Because as our founder, Juliette Gordon Low said we have "something for all the girls!"
